How to Use the 100-Day Challenge & Weekly Tracker

This challenge is designed to help you build fitness habits through simple, consistent actions — not perfection.

You will use two sheets together:

- The 100-Day Challenge Sheet (daily tracking)
- The Weekly Tracker Sheet (weekly progress)

They work as a system to help you stay focused, accountable, and motivated over time.

Step 1: Set Your Goals

At the top of both sheets, write your fitness goals.

- On the Weekly Tracker, write your weekly outcome goal
(for example: Walk 70,000 steps per week)
- On the 100-Day Challenge Sheet, write your daily action goal
(for example: Walk 10,000 steps per day)

Your daily actions should add up to your weekly goal.

Step 2: Use the 100-Day Challenge Sheet (Daily)

The 100-Day Challenge Sheet is used every day.

Each square represents one day (Day 01 to Day 100).

- Green shading: You completed your daily goal
- Red shading: You did not complete your daily goal

Missing a day is not a failure — the goal is to keep going.

Step 3: Weekly Check-Ins

Every 7th day (Day 7, 14, 21, etc.) is marked for a weekly check-in.

These days link directly to the Weekly Tracker Sheet.

On the Weekly Tracker:

- Write your total result for the week
- (for example: 70,000 steps completed)

This helps you see how your daily habits add up over time.

Step 4: Progress Photos (Optional)

Every 10th day (Day 10, 20, 30, etc.) is marked for progress photos.

These photos are for personal use only and help you notice changes that may not show on the scale.

Photos are optional, but they can be a powerful way to track progress.

Final Reminder

- Missing a day does not end the challenge
- Consistency matters more than perfection
- Repeating simple actions builds lasting habits

Focus on showing up, learning from each week, and continuing forward.
